WW1

The new replacement granite war memorial, which stands just outside the Church gates, was erected in 1995 by Strathkelvin District Council as part of their VE Day Celebrations and was dedicated on 16 March 1996. The old granite war memorial, dedicated 10 September 1921, had over the years suffered severe frost damage and now rests at the rear of the old graveyard. The two original plaques were presented to the Church, by Strathkelvin District Council, for safekeeping and have been framed and mounted within the church building.

The following pages mainly contain details of the above men transcribed from The Commonwealth War Graves (CWGC), The Scottish National War Memorial (SNWM) and Soldiers' Died in the Great War (SDGW) Databases, however, some additional sources (e.g. The Stirling Observer) have also been included to verify identities.

The names have been changed to an alphabetical listing format.

Daily Record, 20th May 1915. 'Milngavie Officer Killed'

Lieutenant A. Douglas Anderson, 9th Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders (Machine Gun Section), was killed in action at Ypres on the 10th inst. He was the son of Mr. J. Scott Anderson, senior partner of the firm Messrs. A. & G. Anderson, coalmasters, 53 Waterloo Street, Glasgow and resided at Bardowie Castle near Milngavie. He was only 20 years of age and was educated at Glasgow Academy.

Kirkintilloch Herald, 26th May 1915. 'The Roll of Honour – Milngavie's Heavy Toll'

The 1/9th Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders have been doing well in the fighting line during the past week and getting great credit from their superiors for their courage and bravery. Owing to their prolonged stay in the trenches, for the best part of three weeks, their opportunities for letter writing have been few, and very little news has come through. The repeated onslaught of the Germans, however, and the fearful shelling, have greatly increased the casualties and many homes have now been effected for the first time. Those stationed near Ypres, which is now practically a wrecked city, have been engaged in a brilliant charge, and, as will be seen in the following details, Milngavie men have been prominent. It is with sincere regret that we have to record the deaths of two of our most noble young officers, Lieutenant A. Douglas Anderson, Bardowie Castle, and Second Lieutenant G. H. Gordon Birrell. According to reports we have from outside sources, both bore themselves with the utmost gallantry. Major Christie, who took over the command of the company after Colonel Clark was killed, says of Lieutenant Sanderson: "I was within a few yards of him in the trench that we rushed forward to occupy when the attack commenced and a gun shell landed right on the machine gun. I ran to him at once, but he never spoke; he was killed instantly. He died like a hero, doing his duty. He feared nothing and we feel we have lost one we loved so well, a comrade, a brother. He was buried in a wood nearby." Lieutenant Birrell will be long remembered, not only by his family, but by a large circle of friends, for his frank manner and amiable disposition. The sympathy of the entire community, we are sure, will go out to the parents of these two brave officers, as well as to the parents of the rank and file who have been wounded. They have all shown great steadiness and courage. 'Eye-Witness' tells us that, "with the aid of a method of warfare up to now never employed by nations sufficiently civilized to consider themselves bound by international agreements solemnly ratified by themselves," the enemy was able to advance. That is a grave indictment, but, so far as our gallant fellows and their Allies in the trenches are concerned, the only result of Germany's latest move has been to fill them with an even greater determination to punish the enemy, and to make him pay ten-fold for every act of 'frightfulness' he has perpetrated.

Kirkintilloch Herald, 26th May 1915. 'The Roll of Honour – Milngavie's Heavy Toll'

Lieutenant A. Douglas Anderson of the 9th Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders, who was killed in action near Ypres on Monday last, was a son of Mr. J. Scott Anderson, senior partner of the firm A. & G. Anderson, coalmasters, 53 Waterloo Street, Glasgow. Lieutenant Anderson, who was only 20 years of age, was educated at Glasgow Academy. He joined the Army 2½ years ago, shortly after leaving school. He was machine gun officer for his regiment with which he went out to France about the beginning of February. He resided at Bardowie Castle, near Milngavie.

British Army, Bond of Sacrifice: Officers Died in the Great War 1914 – 16

Major Charles Ernest Higginbotham, 2nd Battalion, The Northamptonshire Regiment, was the Senior Major in the Line battalions of his regiment when he was killed in action at Neuve Chapelle on the 12th March 1916. The second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Higginbotham of Craigmaddie, Milngavie, he was born on the 4th July 1866 and was educated at Rugby and at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, whence he received his first appointment in the Northamptonshire Regiment in February 1887, becoming Lieutenant in April 1890 and Captain in January 1899. From July of that year to July of 1902 he was Superintendent of Gymnasia, Western District; from November 1903 to May 1904, District Assistant Adjutant-General (temporary) South Africa; and from the latter date to May 1907, was Staff Captain, Standerton Sub-District, South Africa. He received his Majority in June 1907 and from September 1909 to August 1913, was Superintendent of Gymnasia, Aldershot Command. He was at one time Captain of the Aldershot Cricket XI and did much to encourage love of sport among both officers and men and "was a sportsman in every sense of the word." His Commanding Officer, writing of him from France after his death said: "Had he alone survived I should have been content for the future of the regiment." Major Higginbotham married, in 1890, Florence Hopkins, who died in Africa in 1906. In 1909 he married Lucy Frances Gray, fourth daughter of the Right Honourable James Round, who predeceased him by a few days, leaving no family. As a sportsman, Major Higginbotham's interests covered a wide ground and included shooting, hockey, golf, skating, lawn tennis, rackets, and (in his younger days) football and running, but cricket was essentially his game. He belonged to the "Rag" (Army and Navy), M.C.C., and innumerable other cricket clubs including "Butterflies" and "Incogniti".

Kirkintilloch Herald, 16th May 1917. 'Torrance – War's Toll'

Truly the present war is exacting a heavy toll from our brave lads and gallant youths from all parts of the empire. On Friday last Mr. Smith, Leitchbank, received word that his son, Private Richard Smith, Scottish Rifles, had fallen in action on the 14th ult., instead of being wounded as had been previously reported; and on Monday word was received that Private Donald McLellan, Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders, had also fallen. Both were much respected and highly esteemed and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved parents.

Kirkintilloch Gazette, 25th May 1917. 'Balmore Soldier's Death'

Mr. and Mrs. McLellan, Balmore Farm, Balmore, have received intimation that their eldest son, Donald, was killed in action on Tuesday 8th inst., in France. Private D. McLellan volunteered for service abroad fully 18 months ago and joined the 13th Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders. He trained at Dunfermline and at Ripswell Camp, and in June of last year left for France. Private McLellan saw a considerable amount of hard fighting both in France and Flanders and took part in the battle of the Somme in the autumn. Recently he was in the region of the La Basse Canal, and with his regiment pushed forward from a ruined village where they were stationed to some trench elements at a bad part of the line, where in carrying out his duties, he was killed by shell fire early on the Tuesday morning. Prior to joining up he was employed in the office of the North British Railway Company at the Goods' Terminus, Kinning Park, and was secretary and treasurer of the Balmore and District Bible Class. Private McLellan, who was only 20, was a young man of exemplary habits and sterling character, a lad of great promise, a faithful and cheery correspondent, respected by his comrades in the field and loved at home by one and all.

Kirkintilloch Herald, 23rd October 1918. 'Torrance - In Honour's Cause'

Quite a gloom was cast over the district when the sad news was circulated that Corporal John Morrison, son of Mr. John Morrison, Bogside, and Private K. MacGilvery, so of Mr. William McGilvery, Puddle House, had been killed in action. Both were well known and highly respected young lads, and the sympathy of the whole neighbourhood is expressed to their sorrowing relatives.

20th November 1916: Royal Garrison Artillery - Charles Randolph Smith

De Ruvigny's Roll of Honour, Volume 3:

Smith, Charles Randolph, 2nd Lieutenant, Royal Garrison Artillery, only son of Charles Randolph Smith, Robinsfield, by Milngavie, Stirlingshire, Engineer at Glasgow, by his wife Julia Margaret, youngest daughter of John Gauldie of Glasgow, Engineer; born Cardonald, Renfrewshire, 16th January 1898; educated Loretto, where he was Platoon Sergeant of the School Cadet Corps, and graduated at Cambridge University, being entered at Pembroke College, but on leaving school in July, 1916, joined the Officers' Cadet Training Unit for the Royal Garrison Artillery, and was gazetted 2nd Lieutenant the following December; served with the Expeditionary Force in France and Flanders from January and was killed in action at the battle of Arras, 22nd April 1917. Buried near Henin-sur-Cojeul. His Commanding Officer wrote: "I can only say how tremendously we all mourn with you and his mother the loss of a most gallant and lovable boy. He had endeared himself to each one of us by his unfailing cheerfulness, sense of humour and unselfishness, also be a clean, simple outlook on life and a singular devotion to duty . . . I have lost a splendid officer,” and the Head Master at Loretto: “of all our boys there was none who was more wholehearted in his wish to serve his country in the hour of need. He was always the brightest and cheeriest of boys, but it really was remarkable how beneath it all there was a purpose of deadly earnestness as soon as war broke out. He threw himself into his military work and you know better than I what unsparing labour he took in the holidays. He seemed to find rest and enjoyment in every minute of his preparation and that he won through and entered on his life at the front in the same spirit was evident from the delightful letters he wrote. Truly I feel of him that war brought him to his best, and his great chance of service was seized upon eagerly, with all its dangers; he had learned that lesson of life which might have taken so long to learn, and such a life is strangely complete.” He was fond of sport, and while at Loretto, where he was a school prefect, was a member of the 1st XV, and he played three-quarter back in the team which held the Scottish Championship, 1915-16.

Loretto School Roll of Honour entry:

2ND LIEUTENANT CHARLES RANDOLPH SMITH, R.G.A., was born in January 1898, and was at Loretto from 1910 to 1916. Prefect. XV. Sergeant, O.T.C.
Whilst at school he used to work in a munition factory during his holidays, and when he left he was posted to an Officer Cadet Battalion, whence he obtained a commission in the Royal Garrison Artillery, and went to France in December 1916.

On April 22, 1917, at about 5.30 P.M., a shell burst in the Officers' Mess of his Battery. Lieut.
Smith was struck by a splinter of the shell and mortally wounded. He died in a few minutes.

Notes recorded and supplied by Michael Kuczynski, University of Cambridge

Pembroke College, Centre of International Studies, and Development Studies:

Charles Randolph Smith (also known as Charles Randolph-Smith) was born at Cardonald on 16 January 1898, an only son of a Glasgow engineer. He was educated at Loretto, where he was in the XV, and while at school he also worked in a munitions factory. He was admitted and would have come up to Pembroke College as an undergraduate in October 1916 but instead of matriculating he went to France as a gunner, second lieutenant, in December of that year (R.G.A., 244th). He was killed on 22 April 1917 in the battle of Arras: a splinter of a shell hit the officers' mess and he was mortally wounded. He is buried at the Bucquoy Road Cemetery, at Ficheux and is commemorated on the Baldernock Memorial near Strathblane. He is listed on the war memorial at Pembroke College in his year of putative admission.

Tinto, Private William, Balmore, H.M.S. Defence.

Kirkintilloch Gazette, 28th June 1916. 'A Patriotic Family'

Mr Alexander Tinto, The Lions, Balmre, clerk to Baldernock Parish Council, has received word that his son, William Burns Tinto, gunlayer on board the 'Defence', has been lost with that ship in the battle off Jutland on May 31st last. Deceased was 27 years of age, and had been for nearly twelve years in the Navy. He had developed considerable skill in several forms of athletics, particularly in boxing, and held for a year the feather-weight championship of the Army and Navy. All Mr. Tinto's sons are in H.M. forces. Two are in the Navy – James in H.M.S. 'Blake' and Alexander in H.M.S. Centurion', which also took part in the Jutland fight. The youngest son, Douglas, who is only 18 years of age, is in the Royal Field Artillery. This is a record of which any family might well be proud, and one that cannot be excelled inasmuch as all the male members are with H.M. forces.

Kirkintilloch Gazette, 30th June 1916

Mr Alexander Tinto, Balmore, Clerk to Baldernock Parish Council, has received intimation that his son William, a gunlayer on H.M.S. Defence, has been lost with his ship in the Jutland battle.
